CS NEWSFLASH: BRINGING YOUR FACILITIES PLAN TOGETHER

Facilities planning can be puzzling. No two schools are the same; hence no two facilities plans should be the same. Your school district's unique situation should determine the way you plan for the future. This can include utilizing any combination of facility and funding analyses to outline critical needs and the ability to fund them.

Piecing together this plan is completely dependent on the school district, so you may find any number of the following studies helpful in determining your overall needs:

Enrollment Projections

Capacity Analyses

Educational Specifications

Educational Adequacy

Community Outreach

Funding Analyses

Cost Estimates

Boundary Adjustments

Project Prioritization

GIS Mapping

Needs Assessments

Utilization Analyses

Site Acquisition/Disposition

Bond Feasibility

Program Implementation
